

OPINION ON THE EUROPEAN UNION FISCAL GOVERNANCE REFORM

EU fiscal governance includes a set of rules and institutions created in 1992 to prevent and correct imbalances

30 April 2024

Last reform after an intense process of negotiation and reflection

Main new features

Medium- and long-term vision and differentiated treatment by country

The expenditure net of revenue measures becomes the main variable

Incentives to investments and reforms

Commitment of each country to improve compliance is strengthened

IMPROVEMENTS

- Sustainability is explicitly placed at the core of the framework
- Better balance between fiscal consolidation and growth
- Monitoring is rationalized
- Complexity shifts from implementation to diagnosis

CHALLENGES

- Building consensus to give stability to plans
- Adapting the national fiscal framework to the new reality
- Distribute targets and adjustments among all General Government
- Reconciling debt reduction with expenditure and investment

PROPOSALS

For the structural fiscal plan to achieve a real strengthening of national ownership towards the structural fiscal plan

- Publish the European Commission's reference trajectory
- Disseminate technical analysis for Spain
- A recommendation has already been made to include all institutions and General Government in the design

To adapt the fiscal framework to the European framework, including the distribution of rules among the General Government

- Immediately initiate a dialogue within the General Government to reach a consensus on the distribution of objectives
- A recommendation was already made in our latest report.

To support the practical implementation of the reform

- Addressing the reform of the fiscal framework, the financing system and extraordinary financing mechanisms in a comprehensive and joint way
- Making spending and investment needs explicit
